We enter ENC as the hot summer days begin to dwindle. During the school year, we put aside our own lives to do an exceptional job with all of our school work. We can't wait until May when we graduate and everyone gets to move up a notch. Throughout the seasons, athletes make it to playoffs and we play a significant role in serving and providing services to our community as well as our school. We attend Chapel to enrich us, and watch the performers in plays as they continue to impress us. Quincy offers a lot of love and food, and money can't hold any value when it comes to our friends. Watch us roar, because we're the class of 1-4

A Word from the Wise...

Dear Seniors,

The time will soon be here for you to say farewell to Eastern Nazarene College and begin the next chapter in your journey. As you prepare for this transition, you can rightly take pride in both your accomplishments and the contributions you have made to ENC during your time here.

Rest assured that each and every one of you has made some contribution during your time here. Perhaps you excelled in Physics or English. Perhaps you pursued your passion for Education or History. Perhaps you participated in ENC athletics, or our music and theater programs. Whether it was serving as stage manager for the annual musical, participating in a missions trip or simply attending chapel faithfully, your presence here has left an imprint on the heart of our campus community.

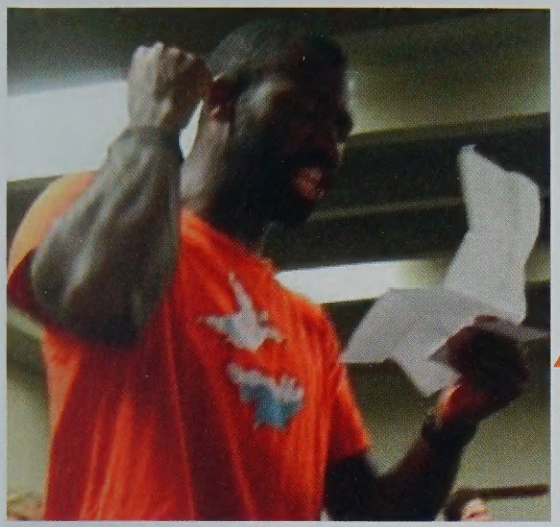
Now, as you prepare to venture forth on life's great adventure, we hope that we, too, have left an imprint on your heart – be it in the form of a course that caused you to consider a new vocation, a mission activity that touched you deeply or a friendship that will stand the test of time. We hope that, as you pack up your belongings for your next destination, you know that you are leaving Eastern Nazarene College with more than simply some old textbooks and bags of dirty laundry. You leave with the knowledge gained through your hard work and perseverance. You leave with new friends and perhaps new perspectives. And you leave with the blessings and well wishes of the faculty and staff who have watched you grow and mature over these past few years.

"Just as a body, though one, has many parts, but all its many parts form one body, so it is with Christ."
~1 Corinthians 12

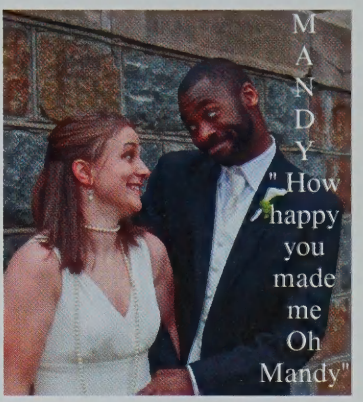
Most importantly, we pray you leave secure in the unshakeable knowledge that wherever you travel, God's abiding love and saving grace go with you. Jeremiah 29:11 tells us "'For I know the plans I have for you,' declares the Lord, 'plans to prosper you and not to harm you, plans to give you hope and a future.'"
As you journey forward to meet and embrace that future, our love and prayers go with you.

Blessings,

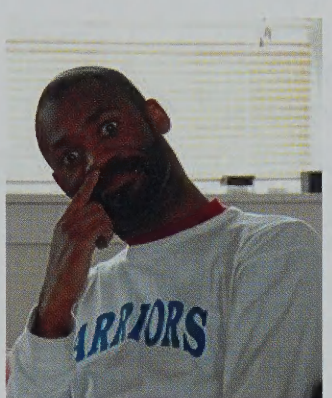
President Corlis McGee

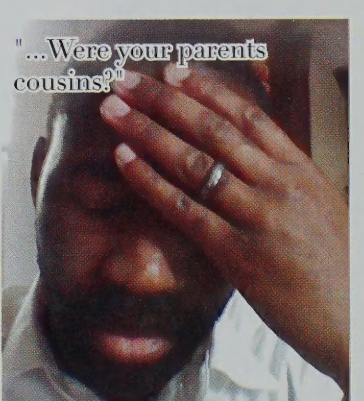


[Professor Henry]



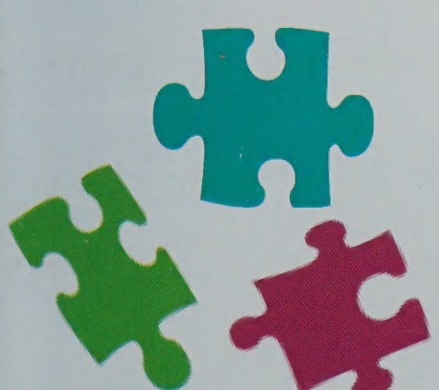
You're walking through Gardner one day, and you hear someone talking in an English accent, and then an Australian accent, and then an accent you are not sure is even a real accent, and you think to yourself, "When did we get so many foreign exchange students?!" So you peek in and you see a classroom so engaged in a class lecture that they don't even see you. And then you see Matt Henry. He's bouncing this blue ball, using one hand to make it talk in these foreign voices, and the students don't even care. How did ENC find this awesome nut in the mixed nut bag? Mat-thew Henry obtained his Bachelor of Arts degree at Eastern Nazarene college in 2002, received his MFA from Seattle Pacific University in 2009, and is a M.A.T.S candidate at Andover Newton Theological School. If you haven't met him, you know who he is or have heard about him. He is crazy, passionate and loving in everything he does. He is just crazy-passionate about life. Matt really loves and cares for all of his students. He takes time out of his busy schedule to have conversations with people about everything from Lord of the Rings to ancient manuscripts, to host Bible studies, and to guide students in the right direction. Students have come to him crying and left laughing. That in itself must say something about this man. The votes have been tallied, the people have spoken. Professor Henry, the 2014 Nautilus is your token. If we had a golden plaque to give you so you could hand it in your office, we would do that as well. But having something dedicated to you is good enough. You are yet another piece to the ENC puzzle.





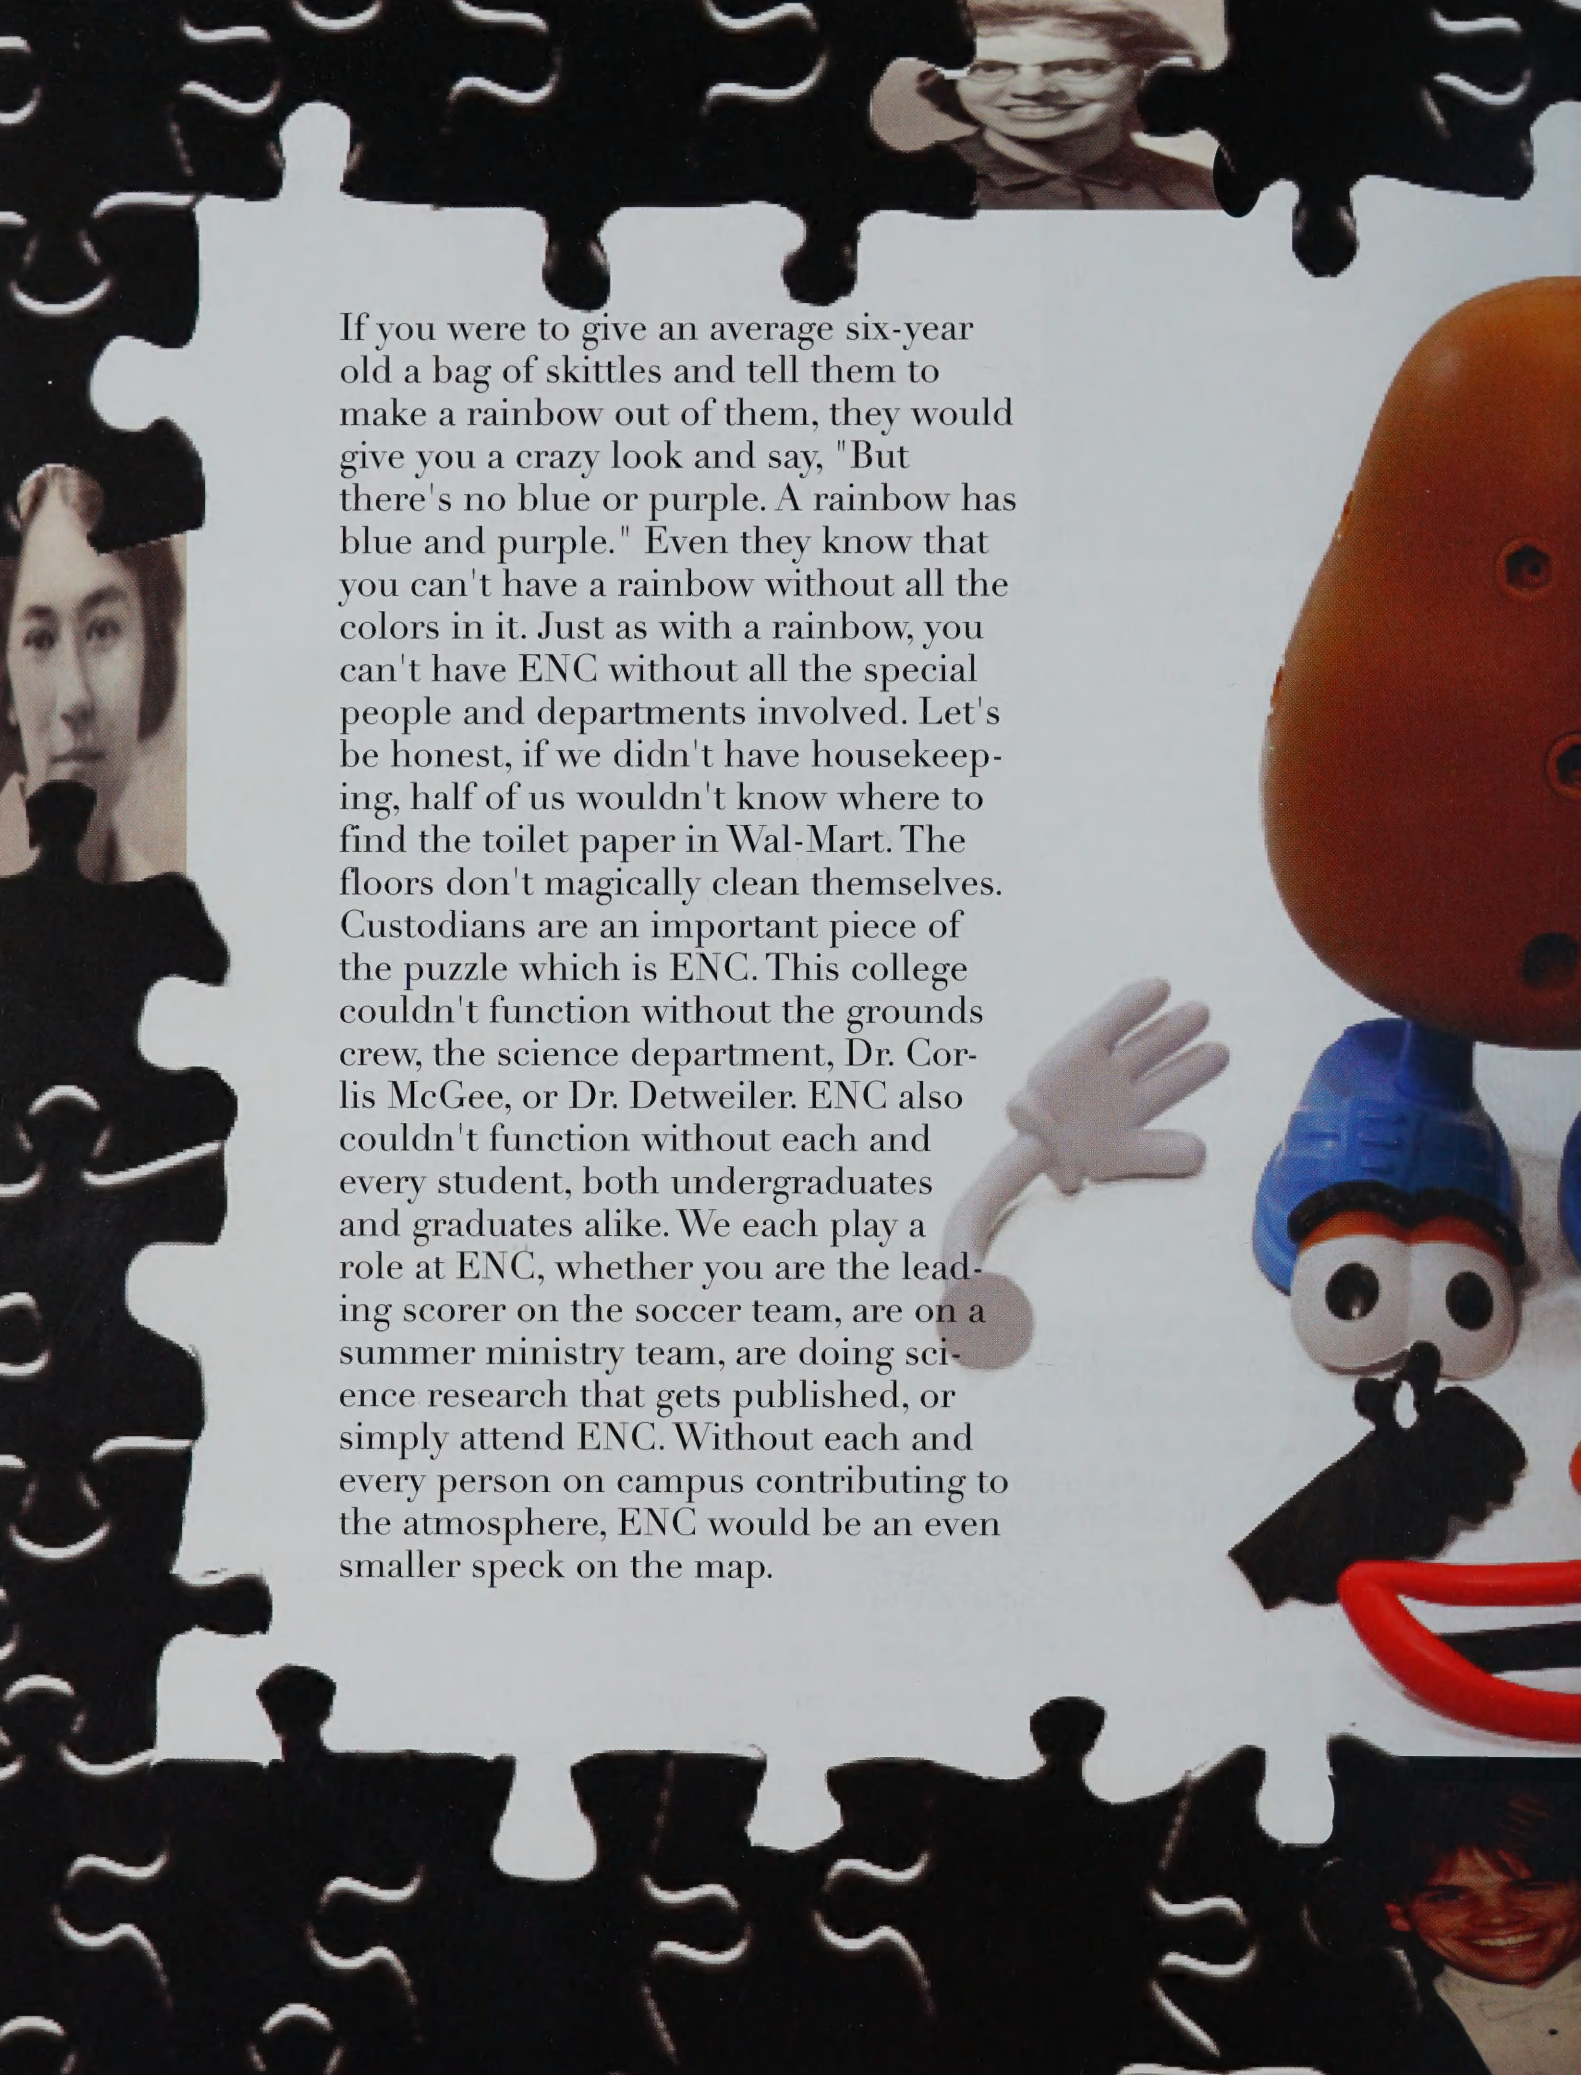
Students of ENC, in the famous words of Matthew Henry:

Suck Less.



...And a Dedication to the Wise

If you were to give an average six-year old a bag of skittles and tell them to make a rainbow out of them, they would give you a crazy look and say, "But there's no blue or purple. A rainbow has blue and purple." Even they know that you can't have a rainbow without all the colors in it. Just as with a rainbow, you can't have ENC without all the special people and departments involved. Let's be honest, if we didn't have housekeeping, half of us wouldn't know where to find the toilet paper in Wal-Mart. The floors don't magically clean themselves. Custodians are an important piece of the puzzle which is ENC. This college couldn't function without the grounds crew, the science department, Dr. Corlis McGee, or Dr. Detweiler. ENC also couldn't function without each and every student, both undergraduates and graduates alike. We each play a role at ENC, whether you are the leading scorer on the soccer team, are on a summer ministry team, are doing science research that gets published, or simply attend ENC. Without each and every person on campus contributing to the atmosphere, ENC would be an even smaller speck on the map.



We are like pieces in a jigsaw puzzle. We are all unique, nd have our own special place in the puzzle of the uni- erse. Without each of us, the puzzle is incomplete."
-Rod Williams

We are all pieces of the puzzle, even if we aren't yet sure which piece we are. Did Alice Spangenberg (far left center, circa 1922) know when she enrolled that she would one day become an English professor at ENC and have a dormitory named after her? When Bertha Munro became the first dean of ENC, did she know that she would leave a lasting impression on future deans and that students would read her words a century later? Take Corey MacPherson (Bottom Center, 1996). Little did he know that after he graduated with a degree in business, he would come back to ENC and become the joker chaplain he is today. Some of us, like Dr. McGee, Doc D, and Bertha Munro are the corner pieces of ENC, and the rest of us are the filler pieces. But the filler pieces are just as important. Each year, the puzzle pieces change places and move around, but we all work together to create a pretty awesome puzzle. And like every six-year old knows, a rainbow just isn't a rainbow unless it has every color.

Seniors

Reflection

"Somehow we as seniors feel again that anticipation, bewilderment, and Excitement we felt when we were freshmen.
Four years ago we were wondering what field to major in; now we are Perplexed to how to use our education.
Four years ago we found our little world helpful and responsive;
Now we face a world nor friendly or interested.

...For the moment we are sad as we realize our college days are over.
We realize we are beginning a life no longer care free and narrowly Margined;
But one that opens before us with broad horizon challenging our best thought.
We have already spent our fresh spring time of life, and before us lies the summer of maturity.

As we turn toward the unknown future, are we afraid?
Never! Because we are not alone.
As we turn toward a new and untried way,
One slips down beside us, takes our hand and dissolves all doubts as He gently whispers
'This is the way, walk ye in it.' "

Our biggest goal as a senior class council this year was to make our class gift a reality. We decided to give a scholarship as our class gift. This is through a program called every class the scholarship. Every class a scholarship takes a $10,000 endowment and give scholarships to students every single year. To be able to have our gift be given in the spring, we need to have $70,000 and our account before May. Last year we were able to raise over $2000, and this year we raised a little over 1000 more. To complete our goal, we are sending letters to parents died them donate in their seniors name and also allowing seniors to donate In honor of those who have helped them through their years here. Every donation that is given to this account is matched by anonymous donors. Every mailbox key refund that we received for a last year was $70 towards our account because of matching. We hope that through our donations from parents and students that will be able to leave the school with the scholarship that keeps on giving to students who need it.

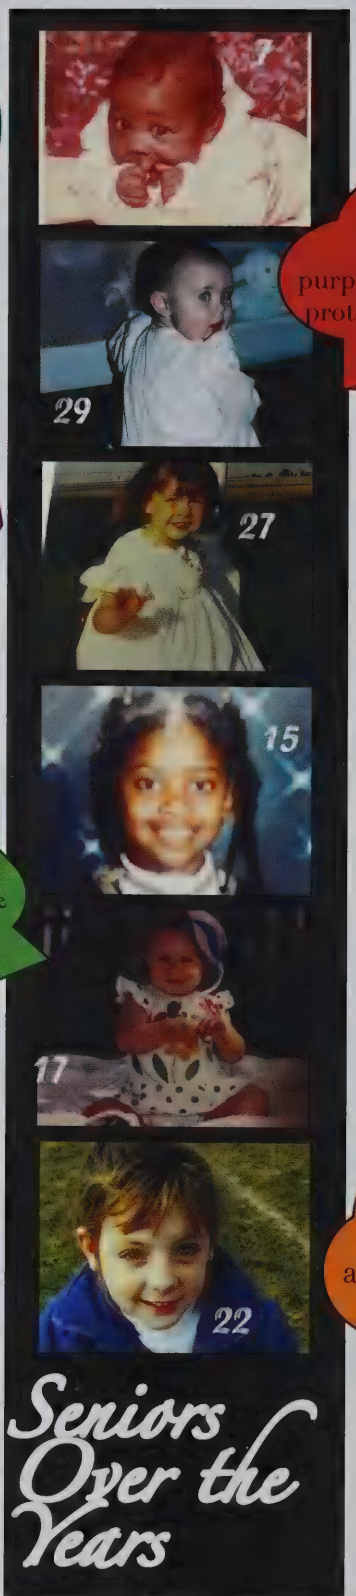
Oh Baby!

I used to play with worms in my sister's doll house like they were people.

I sucked my thumb until the age of 6.

One Sunday when I was a toddler, my dad finished preaching so I decided it was my turn, got up on stage and gave my first sermon!



When I was 5, I told my mother that the purpose of my hair was to protect me from my head.

I used to suck on rocks and eat dirt because my friend said it was good for me.

I was once caught eating a bag of moldy fertilizer.

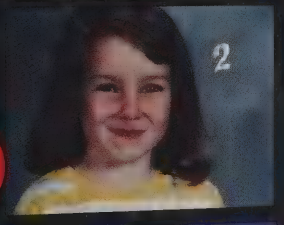
Oh Baby!

My love for books started early, I chewed on the corner of books.

When I was 4, I cut my own bangs right before I was the flower girl in a wedding.

I once stuck a popcorn kernel up my nose for fun.

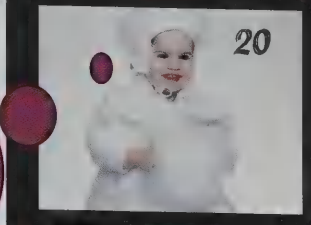
Seniors Over the Years

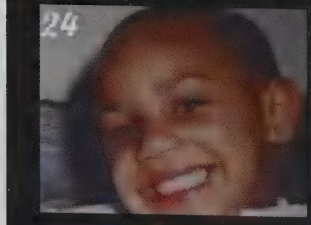


I once accident ran away and the police and a helicopter had to come looking for me.

Seniors Over the Years

My mom used to shave my whole head to supposedly make my hair grown thicker.





I was a leash kid. I had a wrist leash that I had to wear in crowded public places but I learned how to take it off, so my parents had to get a full harness so I couldn't slip out of it. My mom swears it's the only reason I'm still alive today.

Junior year. You are finally figuring the in's and out's of college, and you are starting to get comfortable. Don't! Don't stop going to sporting events. Don't stop doing homework. Don't stop trying to make new friends. Even the juniors are important pieces in life and at ENC.

Tips for Juniors:

1. Don't take on commitments and clubs just because you think they'll look good on a resume. All you'll get is stress. But that doesn't mean don't join them either. It's quality vs. Quantity.

2. Check your E-mail. Freshmen are the best at it, seniors are the worst. It's not just a handy tool to see if class is canceled.

Life is but a stopping place
A pause in what's to be A resting place along
the road to sweet eternity
We all have different journeys Different paths along the way
We all were meant to learn some things, but never meant to stay
Our destination is a place
Far greater than we know.
For some the journey's quicker
For some the journey's slow.
And when the journey finally ends We'll claim a great reward
And find an everlasting peace together with the lord.

If there was anything I learned from being friends with Cydney it was that friendship is a precious thing. She taught me about friendships with actual substance. Those that didn't know Cydney weren't lucky enough to know what that really looks like, but I was.

Cydney believed in knowing people which meant spending quality time individually. I got to know her best when I was sitting in a chair while she did my hair for me. She used to make me laugh so much until I cried. She was caring and thoughtful. Always checking in on her friends and making sure they were well.

I encourage everyone to take a good look at the people they have surrounding them and tell them how much they mean to you. Too often we take our everyday interactions with loved ones for granted. Let this be your reminder to never forget that everyday counts.

~Olivia M. Tovar

Cydney Fields was 20 when she passed away following complications from surgery on August 12, 2013. Cydney was a wonderful student at ENC, and a friend to many. Cydney could be seen at the Dugout, attending basketball games, and her laughter could be heard all over campus. Cydney was always finding ways to enjoy life to the fullest. Cydney's family deeply misses her every day as do her friends, who to this day still post on her Facebook wall just letting her know they miss her. Cydney was a piece to the student life at ENC, and she will always be greatly missed.

R.I.P~12/28/92-08/12/13

Cydney, We want you to know that in the short time you were here, you were loved. You still are loved. You were surrounded by family and friends who showered you with love. Those same people are now helping us grieve. Our hearts are broken and will never be the same. You took a piece of it when you left. We love you and we always will.

'Til we're all together again.

Rest in Peace.

Sophomore Year is the awkward stage in college. You are no longer the newbies, and you are not the rulers of campus like the seniors. The seniors don't even know you exist, and you think you are better than the immature freshman. Professors cut the umbilical cord, and expect you to actually look at the syllabus, and they stop giving you big breaks on papers! No matter how invisible your class seems to be, you are still an important pieces of the puzzle. I mean, we wouldn't have anyone to straighten out the freshman!

Tips for Sophomores

1. If you are undecided, you should start thinking about deciding so you're not a 5th or 6th year senior at ENC.

2. Try not to care so much about your love life or lack thereof. A lot of the people you invest your energy into will disappear after college. And if they do reemerge, they'll probably be 20 pounds heavier and unemployed. That's just science.

Michelle Obama said: "We learned about dignity and decency – that how hard you work matters more than how much you make. That helping others means more than just getting ahead yourself. We learned about honesty and integrity – that the truth matters. That you don't take shortcuts or play by your own set of rules. And success doesn't count unless you earn it fair and square." This statement sums up the philosophy of the Sophomore Class council this year.

We have been able to implement this goal by having the first school dance on the same night of the Junior Senior Dance. This was a bold decision for our sophomore class, but as Michelle Obama has said, we knew that "you don't take shortcuts or play by your own set of rules. And success doesn't count unless you earn it fair and square." It took a while for us to get the event approved, but the class of 2016 knew that if we wanted this event to be a success we couldn't give up, and we had to earn it fair and square. The Class of 2016, and the Lion Community wanted an event that shaped all of us in a different way, and we have been able to successfully implement the plans in creating this event. Our success this year has been about staying knowledgeable in ways we can serve our class, the community, and giving our all in everything we do. Staying truthful, having dignity, and working hard.

Freshman year! You made it through 13 years of school... are you ready for 4 more? You are finally living on your own, maybe hundreds of miles away from family, you don't know anybody. So you do what every freshman does and make friends with anybody & everybody, you get a hundred new friends on Facebook (most of which will be deleted by senior year), you dress up for EVERY class, even the 7:45 ones, and you read every assignment given. You were the missing piece in the puzzle. Without YOU, yes you, everything at ENC would be different!

Tips for Freshman

1. You're in a new place, and you can be whoever you want to be. You can re-create yourself. The best advice? Don't. You are who you are, and you shouldn't have to change for people to like you. You WILL find your own group of friends, no matter who you are.

2. Get to know your teachers. Make sure they know who you are. The teachers here love you and care about your future, you just need to put forth a little effort to get to know them.

At the beginning of the year in our first meeting we had two objectives. The first one was that we must plan a class activity, and also we were given a given a class chapel and it was up to us to organize the entire chapel, the songs, speaker etc. First semester we found something difficult about the class chapel, however the class Chaplain spoke and gave everyone a glimpse into her past which some of the student found really interesting. Our first class activity was very interesting, we didn't have much experience or at least any experience in planning college activities. After months of deciding we had chosen to plan a "minute to win it" challenge which consisted of a game called donut bob, pot wing contest, chubby bunny, and the activities went very well we attracted a large amount of students which went very well for our first time. We have also raised over $400 which is sitting in the freshmen class account and also for the freshmen class scholarship we have raised over $1,300. We collaborated with the sophomore class council for a 80s theme school dance on April 21st. To end the semester off we will be collaborated with E.A.S for an exam cram a week before finals to serve ice cream, pizza and other beverages and snacks in the library. This year has been tough however it was an exciting experience.

The real Dr. Phil. Doc. Phil McLaren

Dr. Phillip McLaren was the son of a science educator who instilled in him a curiosity for the natural world and a profound commitment to his Christian faith. Phil attended Moody Bible Institute where he met the love of his life, Lynne to whom he was to be married to for 51 years. In 1964, Phil graduated from Bethel College in Indiana and received his PhD from Western Michigan University in 1968.Doc moved to Quincy with his family in 1976 to become a Professor of Biology at Eastern Nazarene College. Over the course of 35 years at the College, he inspired curiosity and shared his passion for teaching and science with students, colleagues and family alike. Doc is most remembered as an educational adventurer and world traveler and always ready with a story or a lesson to share. He organized and chaperoned hundreds of foreign educational field trips for students to discover God's wonders on this planet and made personal connections everywhere he went. Doc's favorite travel advice to his students was to "sleep when you can, eat what's in front of you, and if you like it, buy it, as you may never see it again". In typical fashion, he retired to Hawaii with Lynne hoping to continue their explorations, education, with volcanoes, rainforests, birds and bugs to see he was surely in his element.

Phil McLaren was my mentor, my colleague, and my friend. We had so many adventures together, from the Bahamas, to Nova Scotia, New Zealand, and Hawaii. Doc nurtured my love of the outdoors and taught me the value of fieldwork and environmental education. He also showed me through his lifestyle what it means to love others. I will always be grateful that he took me under his wing and showed me the ropes ... more than once. Doc, you are greatly missed. I can never take your place, but I hope that some of you is carried on through me. ~Jonathan Twining

The A, B, C's of ENC

A Capella valentine-o-grams

The week of Valentine's Day you will hear silly love songs everywhere you go.

Budget your money.

The money you make, or the money you're parents give you doesn't grow on trees. Plan wisely. Thank your parents &relatives.

C

Chapel twice a week.

It may seem like a huge commitment to go for an hour twice a week, but the workship teams are awesome and the speakers never disap-

Dugout

Where you go for a quick easy meal if you're not really diggin' what's up in the cafeteria.

E

Excused Absence

"Does chronic senioritis count as an 'Excused Absence'?"

F

Final Exams.

The absolute last time to show how much or how little you learned in class. This might also be the only time you study all semester.

G

God.

God is good all the time. And all the time...God is good!

H

Hebrews.

For those days when one cup just isn't enough.

I

Intramurals

An alternative to the athlete lifestyle. An extension of fun and friendship. Join at least one team. You won't regret it one bit.

J

Jobs.

For the love of all that is good...please get a job. No one likes a mooch.

K

Kitchens.

Spange parlor and Young hosts stoves and microwaves, but please be careful. The fire alarms are VERY sensitive.

L

Love.

You will be cast an anomaly if you don't happen to find your soul mate at ENC.

M

Mandatory room checks

They happen every semester....and they don't miss a thing!

N Noise Complaints.

The whole floor is quiet. Except that one room. It's always that one room...

S Shuttle

For those poor unfortunate souls who have to go to Old Colony... You're choices are: be at the front gates on time, walk 15 minutes in whatever New England season we have that day...or drive.

X Extra Credit.

It doesn't matter which class it is, anything you are invited to do in class, or attending S.I, merits the question: "Does it count as Extra Credit?"

O Open Dorms

"You mean, I can't just be in your dorm whenever I want??"

R Running to class.

Why leave your room 5 minutes early to walk to class, when you could leave 2 minutes before and just run. Killing two birds with one stone...going to class & exercising.

T Take Out.

Sure we pay hundreds of dollars to eat what ever we want from the Cafe, when ever we want it (but only from 7-7). But lets be honest, when isn't Domino's, China Jade, and Buccini's open? And who isn't up for a midnight McDonalds run?

V Varsity Sports

Men's basketball is not the only sport we ahve on campus. GEt out of your rooms and go watch a team play... (We do have girls teams as well, and I hear they are prettty dang good!)

Y YMCA.

There's a pool, turf field, nice equipment and...it's FREE!

P Professors.

They can be your best friend, or your worst nightmare. It's up to you...What do you choose? Chances are that if you get to know them, they can do amazing things for your future.

Q Quiet hours.

They are real, and seem to exist 24/7

U Up All Night

When professors tell you not to wait until the night before to study, or that a good term paper cannot be written the night before, we all know that 95% of us will wait until the night before. Challenge Accepted.

W Washing Machines

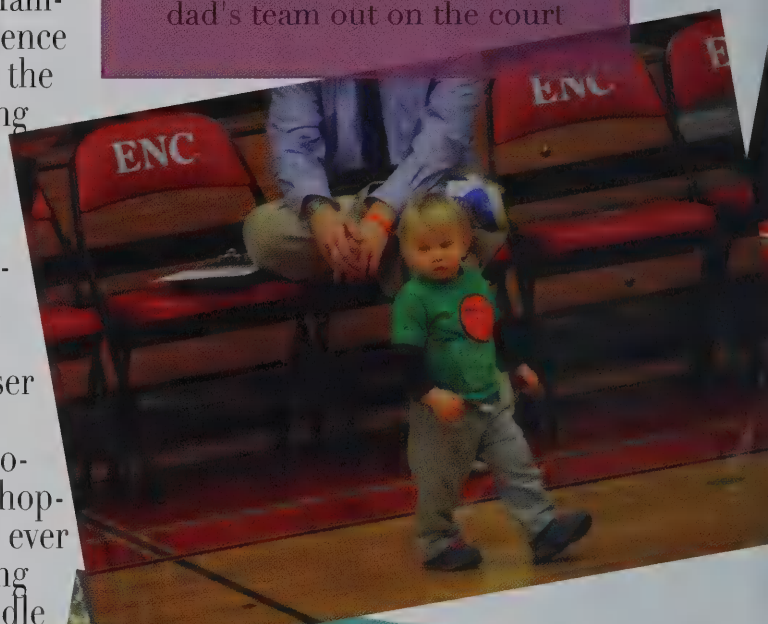
There are only about 4 washing machines in each building, so every time you do laundry, you lug your basket down flights of stairs, praying that no one else is doing laundry, and if they are you boarder line having a psychotic break as you lug your basket back all the way back upstairs. When you finally do get a machine, it says 1 minute...but what it really means is 20 more minutes. Godspeed.

Z Zzz...

They say you can sleep when you're dead, or in Lit and Culture. You can either study, play FIFA all night or go to bed. What's your poison?

Proud to be a Lion

Let's be honest: we are not what you expect. Sure, we know we have a lot to prove in the coming years. But you cannot deny that we are well on our way to becoming something big. Women's soccer made it to the CCC Quarterfinals and played in the ECAC tournament for the first time in ENC history, while also winning the most number of games, eleven in Coach Hamilton's ENC career. And if that wasn't enough to silence those who doubt us, the men's basketball achieved the number two seed in the CCC playoffs after defeating Gordon for the first time since 2007.



Little Quentin Aller coaching his dad's team out on the court

With a new coaching staff in four different departments, the Lions are well on our way to making a name for ourselves. Addison Rouse and Nick Campbell joined the baseball coaching staff from Kentucky and Massachusetts, respectivley. Dan Visser and MacKenzie Arment hailing from Pennsylvania helped to lead the men's soccer team to future victories. Stephanie Gillett lead the softball team to a whopping four wins in Florida this year, the most games ever won in the sunshine state. We look forward to seeing where she leads us next. Native to Quincy, Jim Rendle and Megan Johnston seel to develop the volleyball team into championship teams.

Although we can't say we are thrilled about 5 A.M practice, 5 mile runs in late August, and sleep depravation, the athletics department is up and coming to be champions.

If our molded minds aren't enough proof we are a force to be reckoned with, perhaps we can submit as evidence our physically fit bodies. There's no way we can traipse up and down three flights of stairs all day, especially after a grueling practice. We are just saying, we are major pieces to the puzzle of ENC.

"This team is something so incredible here at ENC, from the players to the coaching staff. Everyone plays such a vital role in not only the success we've had, but the unity and environment that we have created. ENC's women's soccer team has a huge future ahead of them, and I am so grateful to be apart of the history we have made and will continue to make."

"I learned from this season to never give in to the negativity in your head. I realized that I am here for a purpose and with God's strength in me I can overcome any obstacle."

~Kayla Aragon

"My favorite part of the season was when we went and stayed at the lake house overnight for the team retreat. ACTUALLY, My favorite thing was during preseason and doing the scavenger hunt in Boston. Brought some good laughs!"

~Hannah Scahill

" As a team, we went through the tough times (i.e preseason) & getting in shape together, but we also got to experience the highs like winning games & improving together. It's awesome that we have that kind of team. I learned that our team can stay positive & keep working at playing for each other and for God. ~ Kat Lawrence

Men's Soccer

Last Line of Defense

" Since the keeper is the last line of defense, leadership is essential. A keeper must take control of their back line by organizing the players in front of him so that they can be in the best position to prevent a shot. A successful Goalkeeper is not only a good shot stopper, but also he has to be mentally tough and be fully alert for all 90 minutes so that he is in the right position stop the attack and help his team win. To be a successful member of our colleges soccer team you have to be dedicated and willing to sacrifice yourself for the team. You have to be able to perform on the field and with your academics, and lastly, find enjoyment in doing something that is more important than any single individual on the team. Q. What is your position?
A. Setter

Q. What's your favorite professional team?
A. I really like Penn State volleyball

Q. Most memorable moment from volleyball?
A. There were so many great moments, but the one that keeps popping into my head is when Vanessa Pascal absolutely ate it in the first few points of our match against Roger Williams. It was the funniest thing ever. We played a great game, and I think this had something to do with it. We play our best when we're having fun

Q. How did you feel when you were named rookie of the week?
A. I was surprised, but honored that my hard work was recognized. I can't get an assist without a kill, so I have my teammates to thank. They're awesome and I love playing with them.

Cross Country

THROUGH THE SEASON CROSS COUNTRY FOCUSES ON IMPROVING TIMES AND BUILDING FRIENDSHIPS

Going the Distance

It's great to get out surely you see,
To run like the wind so fast and so free.
To blaze a long trail wherever you go,
It just doesn't matter if you're fast or you're slow.

A cross country run or a jog in the street,
A couple of miles on fast moving feet
Your arms are a pumping your bloods in a rush
But it's so much better than taking a bus.

Out with some friends and having some fun
It really is great when you're out for a run.
No matter the weather, sun, snow or rain
You'll only get better if you continue to train.

So run with your body your heart and your mind
It's pleasure and fun I'm sure you will find.
Sometimes it's hard. "That's enough!" you will say,
At the end of a session, a really tough day.

The next will be better just wait and see
And again you'll be running alive and so free.
So never give up wherever you are
The finishing line is not really far.

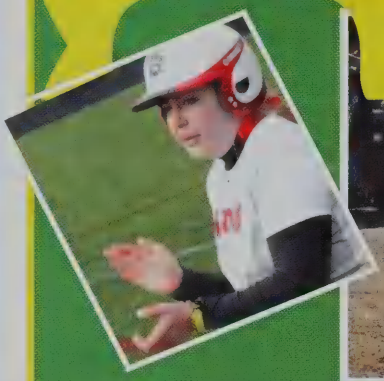
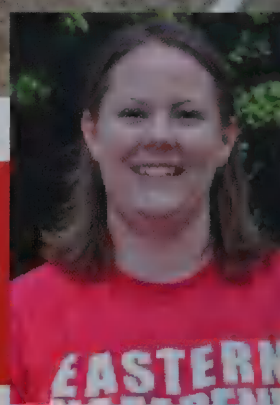
The Lowdown



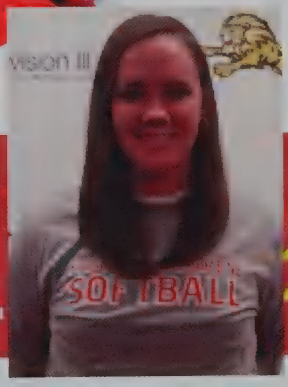
"We had ups and downs, but our team had a bond like no-other! I wouldn't have chosen to be on an-other softball team!"
~Cagla Clinkscale



"My favorite part of this past season was being able to watch a group of young women come together as a team and fight for a common cause."
–Head Coach, Stephanie Gillett

Homerun Defense

"We had a lot of fun and great team chemistry. Good things are expected in the future!" ~Olivia Tovar



"My favorite part of the season was definitely witnessing the camaraderie among this group of girls. It's no secret we had a very tough season on many aspects, but they never lost faith and love for each other. Of all the teams I've been a part of, this team ranks at the top as far as togetherness goes. They worked hard but made working fun at the same time. —Assistant Coach, Madison Flowers

GAME FACES

Here at the Nautilus, we have the odd job of going through thousands of pictures to select the gems that will end up on the pages of your yearbook. We know that you try your darnedest to make sure all the pictures that we take are "Profile-Pic" material, but I have to break it to you--sometimes yo look pretty funny. While we get a good one here or there among the many that are taken during events, it has become abundantly clear to us that athletes frequently make some seriously weird faces. Who knew that intensity out on the court or field could make for some photo-hilarity? We sure didn't, but now that we know, we felt it would be unfair to keep it to ourselves.

So, athletes, we commend your dedication and perseverance out on the fields and the courts, but even more than that, the Nautil office would like to thank you for turn ing that into some in-office humor.

THE FOCUS THAT ROARS FROM THE SIDELINES

Coaches express their thoughts and views on their players, their sport, and coaching in general

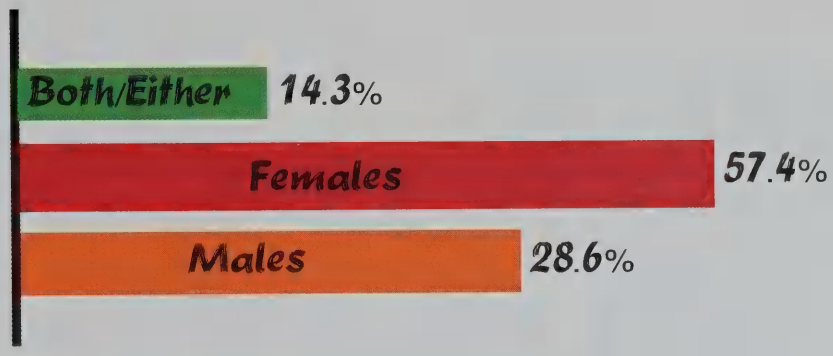
On Being An Assistant Coach....

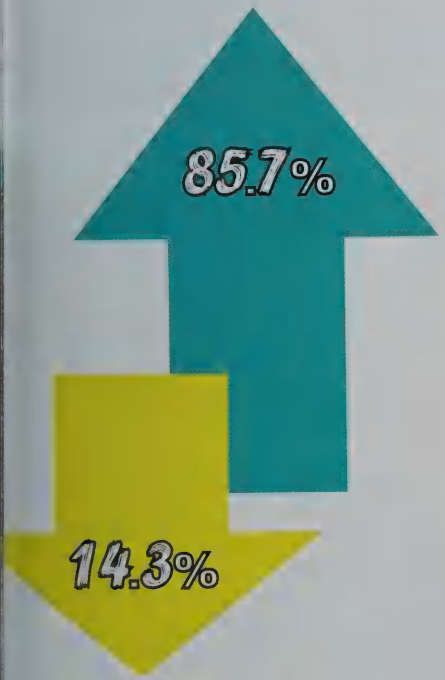
" My experience as an assistant coach at ENC has been very rewarding and very trying. I love being able to develop personal relationships with my players and watching them develop throughout their careers. On top of that, I grow and learn something new every single day. Most of the time, I'm learning new strategies and techniques, but sometimes I'm also learning what not to do. Part of the growing process in any profession is working with different types of people. I've been very fortunate to work mostly with effective coaches who have helped me develop. But, effective or not, you can always learn something."
~Madison Flowers, Basketball & Softball

What do you look for in an Athlete?

"Smart (academically and athletically), hard working, respectful and overall kids with good values"

Which Gender do you prefer to coach?





True-False:

Watching my sport on TV helps me think of new techniques/tactics

Do you fundraise?

" Yes, we fundraise to help our program and our athletes. We fundraise for team gear so that we can look like a team and represent ENC wherever we go. We fundraise to allow our team to do things together in the community, such as Team Impact. And this year, we are fundraising for a trip."

The reasons behind Business Society

"I joined the Business Society because I wanted to make a difference. My expectations for this semester are to have students become more involved with the Business department and prepare them for when they graduate."
~So. Leo Silva

"I am looking forward to making the Business Society a major club on campus, and presenting exciting events for students who are looking to further their experience at ENC and their careers." ~ Sr. Nick Thompson

"I Love planning events and I am honored to work alongside my fellow classmates as we serve the community and college."
~Jr. Kayla Harriman

"I joined to gain business experience, be more involved in the business department."
~Jr. Zach Johnson

"I joined the Business Society so that I can help the ENC Business Department prepare their students for the future, while also getting business experience for my own personal gain"~ Jr. Jake Johnson

The Business Society is a student-led organization in the Business Division at Eastern Nazarene College that aims to cultivate a student interest in business, encourage dedication to making improvements within the department, as well as connecting Eastern Nazarene College with local businesses and the business environment. strangely familiar

Being on team fatty for me has been a great privilege. It's one of the most well known intramural teams on campus so it was awesome to get invoked as a freshman. To me it's great because it's just friends goofing around, athletes and not, just having fun! My favorite memory from Team Fatty this year was watching Team Fatty play In The Summer in Intramural basketball and Jacob Misla hitting like 5 threes in the game. Team Fatty won by 1 point.

"LOWERING THE BAR"

SINCE 2010

"It started my freshmen year when Andrew Kohr, myself, and Tyler Adcox saw that all the teams were athletic and no one else wanted to play. We decided "Hey see if we can make a team that anyone can beat, maybe we can get others to join and turn intramurals into what they should be." It worked! We all started it and found others who saw our visions with us, and wanted to give it a go. At the moment we are 29-0. If you count losses first. We are now an official club with Nathan Mann as pres, Andrew as V.P. me as chaplain and Brady Smith as Administrative Assistant. Also, we love cheeseburgers."

Wilderness Explorers

"In the mountains of Massachusetts, you can find a group of students embracing nature through vario activities. These students are members of ENC's new Wilderness Explorers club.

The club is designed for students who wish to enjoy the great outdoors, partake in physical activity, or make some new friends.

This outdoor adventure club goes hiking, rock-climbing, canoeing, and kayaking. If the weather permi the club may even go camping, too.

"Wilderness Explorers is all about having fun, trying new things, and exploring all the amazing plac around the greater Boston area," President of Wilderness Explorers Julianna MacFarland said.

"Our unofficial mascot is Russell from 'Up.' He is the ultimate Wilderness Explorer and we hope can be as cool, helpful, and adventurous as him," MacFarland said." ~Jenny Ferron, Veritas

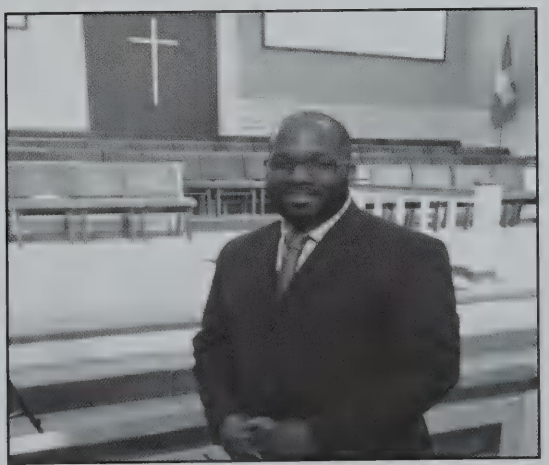
FAMOUS Last Words

"The ENC Gospel Choir, past and present, has been more than just a class-it has and always will be a family. Each student came from various backgrounds and has brought a wealth of life, energy, joy and love to this class. Of all the experiences I have had in my life, very few compares to that of being with these students and leading this group. When all is said and done, seeing this group sing and play to the Lord so passionately and sincerely, as well as watching them willingly grow together while genuinely reflecting community is a reward that one can never replace. I will miss being a part of this group, but I know I will still have each of them as my life long family."

Michael Payne, Choir Director



A Cappella Choir

Malcolm Carvalho (President)

"A Cappella Choir is not my second family, it has become part of my family. We pray for each other, we love one another and we are there for each other. I am very thankful for everything the A Cappella Choir and Dr Timothy Jerome Shetler has done for me in the past 4 years."

"I will never regret joining the A Cappella choir my freshman year. It has filled my life with joy ever since and I couldn't have asked for anything more. Though I may go on to join other choirs, I will never find one as loving and accepting as the A Cappella choir has been. It will always have a special place in my heart." - Melanie Marchetti

"A Cappella has led to some of the best relationships I will ever have in my life. My relationship with Christ has grown in unbelievable ways, and I've made friends that I know I'll keep for the rest of my life. It has been a remarkable experience that I can only dream of ever being matched by something else in my lifetime. I will never forget a single moment, I'll cherish each for the rest of my life." - Mónica Gonzalez

"A Cappella has changed my life for the better during these four years at ENC. Without the choir experience, I would not have met my second family, and I never would have understood how deeply my love for choral music and ministry could impact those around me. The words in our music will forever remind me of who God is and who my closest friends are."
- Jessie Hogan

Breathe Retreat

Sarah Briggette, Taylor Corbin

A Ministry [with a focus on the] Community

"Breath Retreat is A ministry for ENC students that seeks to foster spiritual renewal and a time to grow closer to fellow students in the ENC community, with the expectation that students will then go out and serve the local and global community."

Hear Me

In all the craziness of the semester, I was on Breathe Retreat Committee. Never having attended the weekend, I was unsure of what to expect, and in all honestly, I saw the weekend as a waste of my time. But I was wrong, in so many ways. It was a weekend full of community, worship, and Jesus. In the short 2 days of the weekend, the Lord drew me out of my comfort zone and encouraged me to let go of burdens that I had been holding onto for far too long. Friendships and bonds were formed; friendships that still encourage and uplift me weeks later. Breathe Retreat turned into exactly what I needed and the Lord used this weekend to renew my mind, transform my heart, and I didn't go back to ENC the same person that I was.

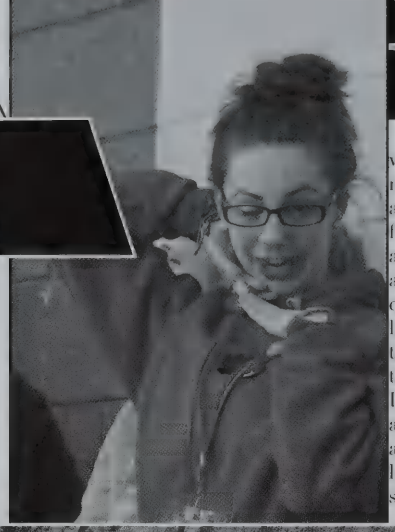
Honduran Soles

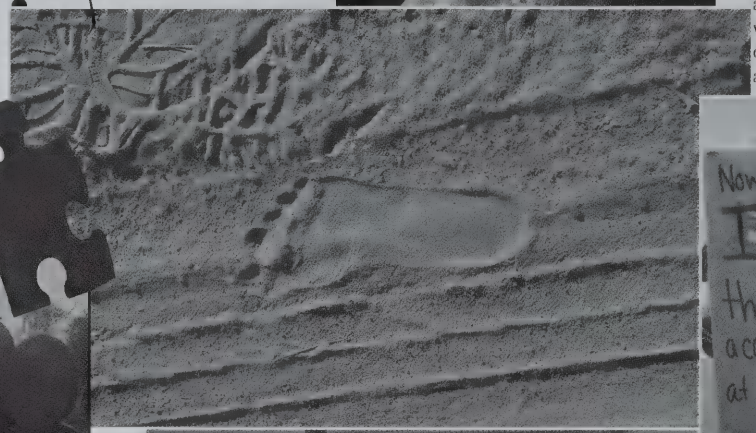
Ephesians 3:20

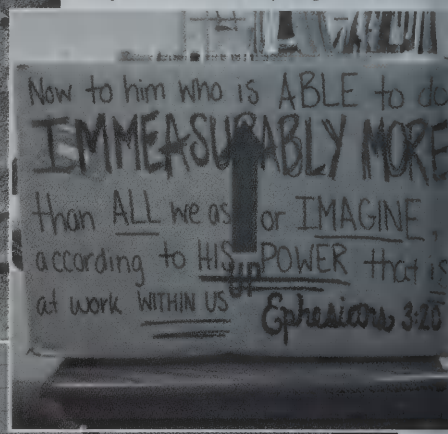
"We are called to be the hands and feet of Jesus- collecting shoes for people all around the world. We are collecting flip-flops/shoes for children all over the world who go barefoot every single day. After going on a mission trip to Honduras in 2011, we were moved deeply by the fact that almost all the kids we saw there did not have shoes to wear, yet the ground was rocky and muddy, and thus their little feet were bruised and callused. So we have decided to step out in faith and start a project to collect flip-flops/ shoes for these precious children. Overwhelmed and blessed to say that in 2013, Honduran Soles has been able to give out 3,655 pairs of shoes to 6 different countries and raise around $5,000 which will purchase enough uniforms/shoes to send 250 kids to school in Zambia, Africa. We are so incredibly blessed. Could never have imagined all that's happened this year! GOD IS SO GOOD, over and over and over again!



Honduran Soles Is...

My best friend back home and her young sister started the non profit after a few tr they took with their church to Honduras started off as a small individual project th wanted to do and it escalated to the whole com munity and surrounding towns and churches. S asked me and a few of our others close friends from high school to get excited and help her ou and of course we jumped right in. She has such a missions heart and we all have taken this to o colleges and tried to branch it out further than hometown areas. I hope to maybe see it get big throughout the whole student body and not jus the fusion mission trips. That was our first aven I saw they were headed to Honduras and saw it as an opportunity to go through Honduran sole and that's just what we did. The organization co lects shoes for other countries and hopefully as student body we can pick a place and raise mor and collect shoes together for kids around t world. I think it is time for us to start makin difference as a community of students. This a simple convenient way to give to a missio





Now to him who is ABLE to do
IMMEASURABLY MORE than ALL we ask or IMAGINE, according to HIS POWER that is at work WITHIN US
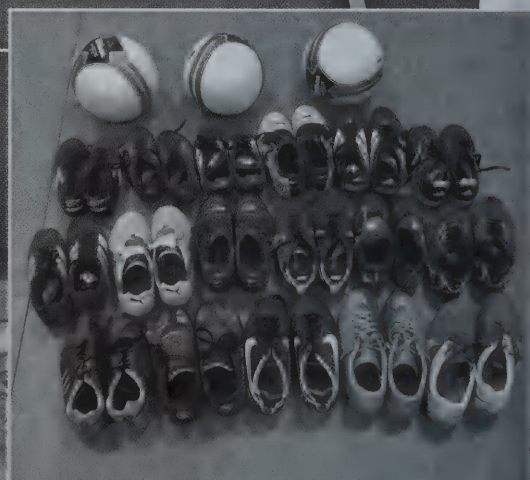
Ephesians 3:20

"Have you ever received a hug from someone where you could physically feel the love in their embrace? I was so overwhelmed to the point of tears simply from the hug of this beautiful women and the abundance of love I felt in this moment. The joy she showed me after we gave her a pair of shoes touched me so deeply. It's moments like this that forever will stay in my heart."

2,494 beautiful shoes!

"A simple pair of shoes can change a child's life! His smile could melt your heart!"



A volunteer went to Africa to play soccer and asked for people to donate cleats so the locals could play soccer as well!

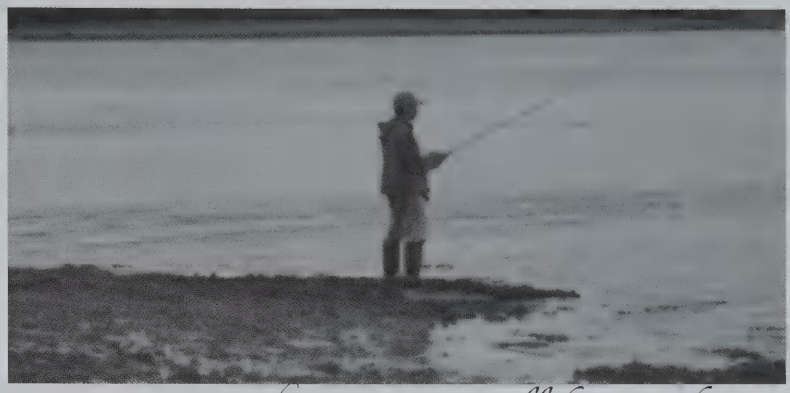
Nathan,

"Follow your dreams"

Congratulations, we are SO proud of you.

Love,
Your Family



"Twenty years from now you will be more disappointed by the things you didn't do than by the ones you did. So throw off the bowlines, sail away from the safe harbor. Catch the trade winds in your sails. Explore. Dream. Discover.

Congratulations Kyle! You are well on your way to pursuing your dreams.
Love, Mom, Dad & Katie

Dearest Katie,
We thank God for the gift he has given us-YOU!!
Jeremiah 29:11
For I know the plans I have for you," declares the LORD, "plans to prosper you and not to harm you, plans to give you hope and a future.
Proverbs 22:6

Train up a child in the way he should go,
And when he is old he will not depart from it.
2 Timothy 4:7
I have fought the good fight, I have finished the race, I have kept the faith.
Congratulations...ENC 2014..... Well Done!!
Always, and forever in our hearts:
We Love you! <3 Mom, Dad, Kim, Stevie, Kristen & Sarah <3

YOU DID IT!

TO SHOSHA, OUR FABULOUS GRAD!

All those hours of studying and hard work paid off! You kept your eye on the goal, and kept going even when the going got tough. You are amazing!

Congratulations, dearest Shosha, on this incredible achievement! No family could be prouder in celebrating your achievement.

Our deepest thanks to ENC and to your "team" who helped you achieve what you set out to do.

With love and pride,
Dad, Mom and Elana

Cuando los hijos terminan etapas de su avance en el conocimiento, uno como padre siempre se ha fijado metas tal vez muy altas, pero ellos van a su propio ritmo, y a veces nos sentimos defraudados; pero cuando culminan esas etapas, uno se siente contento y alegre, porque su propia semilla prospera y sale adelante, es ahí cuando uno se da cuenta que valió la pena el esfuerzo y que este se ve recompensado con los éxitos de nuestros hijos. Nuestra felicidad hoy es mucho más alta, pués nuestro orgullo se halla enaltecido porque tú, Mónica Alexandra, haz culminado con éxito una etapa más en el largo camino de la vida y recuerda que siempre estaremos contigo y te apoyaremos en tus decisiones. Felicitaciones hija nuestra y muchos éxitos en tu vida futura.

Ricardo, Mireya, y Sandra.

When children end stages of advancement in their education, as parents we always set very high standards for them, but they go at their own pace, and sometimes we get disappointed, but as they culminate these stages, we feel happy and excited, because our own seed prospers and moves ahead. That's when one realizes that it was worth the effort and is rewarded with the successes of our children. Our happiness is much higher today, after our pride is exalted for you, Monica Alexandra, go successfully and complete another stage in the long journey of life, and remember that we will always be with you and support you in your decisions. Congratulations to our daughter and much success in your future life.

Ricardo, Mireya, y Sandra.

I would like to thank my mother for countless years of hard work; my father for countless years of sacrifices; my sister for making me a role model; Jesus for dying on the cross and being with me; Martin Luther King; Frederick Douglas; Harriet Tubman; Booker T. Washington for their martyrdom; Tupac for keeping it 100; the helpful ENC staff and teachers that helped me discover my purpose. Last but not least, YBM!!

2. The Layout designer from Lynn, Ma; Also a senior was Kirsten Swanson

3. Hannah Dawber, a skilled photographer from Medway, is a future Junior.

4. A photographer with an eye for fashion and photography, is Junior, Cannan Hess.

5. A Junior, Madeline McDonough, is compotent in everything photoshop and knows how to set up a photography set.

A Letter from the Editor

Your life is a story.
Each moment writes the words of a new sentence, and each day forms an additional page.
These moments and days pile into chapters, and all chapters seem to come to a close.
It's important however, to remember that the ending of one chapter leads to the beginning of another. It's important to not forget, that at the end of any story, each chapter played a role in its completion.

If you were to read the story of my life thus far, you would find that some of my most pivotal, invaluable moments have taken place within the chapter entitled, ENC.

It is here that I've learned what it means and what it looks like to be a leader; to step up and out on behalf of others. It was here that I was offered the chance to care for others through service as a Soccer Player, a biology lab TA, and the Editor for the Nautilus Yearbook. Through this leadership, I have also been taught valuable lessons in grace, and forgiveness.

But what I really want to share with you—and those of you who know me won't be surprised by this—revolves for my need of family.

I came to ENC in 2010 and by that time I had lived in over 8 houses, and with countless families. I did have my birth mother in my life and she was supportive of me, and I also had my half-brothers and sisters, but I also had three other sisters and a brother from my last home. As I watched my make-shift family waving in my rearview mirror when I left for Boston, it was at that point I realized I was homeless...and without a real family and house to call "home". I came to ENC doubting Jesus and God and couldn't understand why He would leave me out to dry, without a home and family. I came here questioning a lot about my life and faith. But I knew it was here that I was going to find the family that God wanted me to find and to restore my faith that badly needed to be rekindled.

Slowly, over the years, I realized that His special love for the fatherless and abandoned children of this world, was a love that was growing within me as well. When I took the time to stop and listen, I could hear God whispering, as I held the sleeping form of an abandoned baby in my arms, "This. This is what I have created you for. To love, in the way that I love you."

And it is at ENC that I have found support and guidance and family. I have been poured into more here than I would have been anywhere else. This is the community I needed, and Jesus knew that. This is the place I needed to be when I experienced loss and despair and "the stripping away of the comfortable and familiar". And this is the community that has journeyed with me as I learned that ENC has been an important chapter in my story. Whatever happens in the next chapters of my story will be forever tied to this place.

Stories are told and shared.
Stories inspire us and encourage us.
To live a story is to do.
Story is not static.
Your life is a story.

Just as a body,
though one,
has many parts,
but all its many parts
parts form one body
so it is with Christ.
~1 Cor. 12:12
Even so the body
is not made up
of one part but of many.
~1 Cor. 12:14
Now you are the body of Christ,
and each one of you is a part of it.
